Understanding the Master Association and Metropolitan District

By Victoria DeSair, Master Association Executive Director

I often get asked, “What’s the difference between the Master Association and the Metropolitan District?” Ken-Caryl Ranch is governed by these two distinct entities, and I’m hoping to educate residents on some key points about both organizations. My column will start with a basic overview, and we are planning to have some more in-depth articles with graphics in upcoming issues to further explain.

What is the Master Association?

- Homeowners’ association for Ken-Caryl Ranch.
- Managed by an elected five-member volunteer Board of Directors and a paid professional staff.
- Revenues come primarily from residential and commercial dues, advertising, cell tower leases and Equestrian Center revenue.

Here are some of the main services and amenities the Master Association provides:

- Covenant enforcement and architectural control
- Trash removal and recycling
- Equestrian Center operations
- Life at Ken-Caryl newspaper
- Private open space and trails
- Asset replacement through the Reserve Fund
- Historical preservation
- Special events (Recycling event, Barn BrewHa, etc.)

What is the Metropolitan District?

- Government entity known as a Special District.
 - Managed by an elected five-member volunteer Board of Directors and paid professional staff.
 - Revenues are derived from property taxes, grants and user fees.
- And the Metropolitan District offers these services and programs:
- The Community Center, tennis courts, parks, pools and fields
 - Hard-surface greenbelts
 - Public open space on the South Hogback
 - Recreation programming and community events, including preschool, Before & After Care, summer camps, fitness programs, tennis programs and more
 - Most landscape maintenance and snow removal for facilities and greenbelts

Keep an eye out in future issues for more details! Please reach out to me at victoriad@kcranch.org or 303-979-1876, ext. 122, if you have any questions or concerns.

Noxious Weed Management in the Open Space

By Liam Cullinane, KCRMA Natural Resources Specialist

Springtime has arrived in Ken-Caryl, bringing longer days and warmer temperatures. But with this change in seasons, noxious weeds are starting to pop up in the open spaces, lawns and parks. Noxious weeds are non-native, invasive plants that displace native vegetation and can have impacts on economies and the environment. In Colorado and in Jefferson County, property owners are required by law to manage certain species of noxious weeds. The level of management generally depends on how common the species is within the county. Species that are not very common require eradication (total elimination) from the property. Species that are common are required or encouraged (depending on the species) to be controlled (e.g., attempt to stop their spread).

The Natural Resource team has begun their noxious weed management, including herbicide application, hand removal, mowing and biological control, in the open space. We take an integrative approach, meaning we use a variety of methods to combat the spread of these plants in the open space. Herbicide application normally begins at the end of April (weather dependent) and continues into July, with follow up spraying in the fall (September-October). Mowing operations are scattered throughout the growing season to prevent certain plant species from flowering and producing seed. Hand removal is used on smaller weed patches and days when herbicide application is not possible (rain, snow, high wind etc.). Biological control involves releasing the natural enemies of specific noxious weed species at various times throughout the growing season. This year, we are planning to release a biological control for Canada thistle in the fall (Canada thistle rust).

In addition to the Natural Resource Team, a contract herbicide applicator will also be conducting work in the open space starting at the beginning of May and continuing through to the fall. Please see the attached management area map for more information about where herbicide applications will be taking place in the open space. The contractor has already started spraying bare-ground areas like picnic pads, crusher-fine trails and kiosk pads. These areas are treated with a pre-emergent herbicide to prevent weeds from coming up throughout the growing season.

Both the contractor and in-house staff use post-emergence broadleaf, selective herbicides that are approved by the EPA and registered for use in the state of Colorado to control noxious weeds that have already emerged. Broadleaf selective herbicides do not impact grass species; they target broadleaf plants, which make up a majority of the noxious weed species found on the ranch. The major herbicide brands that are used are Escort XP, Milestone, Transline and Telar XP. Herbicide application is a very effective and efficient method to control noxious weed species and is an important tool in land management, but again, it is only one of several methods that we employ on the ranch to control and eradicate noxious weed species.

From April to June, the plants that we target are mostly biennial species. Biennials are plants that complete their life cycle in two years, with the first year being spent in a non-flowering, vegetative state called a rosette. At this stage, these plants are more vulnerable to herbicide application due to the increased uptake in nutrients and water. In the second year, the plants shoot up a stem and begin flowering and seeding in June/July. Target biennial species in the open space include scotch thistle, musk thistle, houndstongue and common mullein, to name a few.

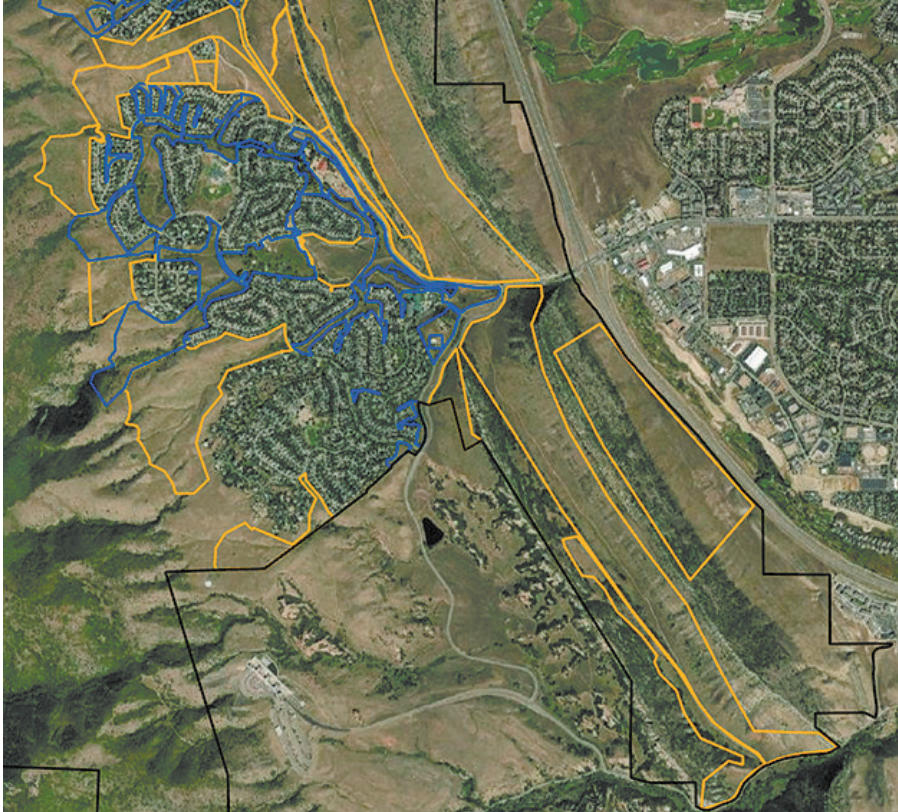

As spring turns to summer, the target plants shift from biennial species to perennial species. Perennials are plants that live for three or more years. Each year, the plant flowers, seeds and then goes dormant for the winter. Perennials are usually very deeply rooted plants making them extremely difficult to control. One of the most effective strategies is to mow the plants once a month so they do not flower and go to seed, and then treat them with herbicide in the fall. Mowing them once a month stresses them out as they are constantly trying to regrow all season. Then in the fall, when they are transporting large amounts of nutrients to their roots to prepare for winter, they are highly vulnerable to herbicide. Target perennial species in the open space are Canada thistle and leafy spurge.

The weeds that are managed in the open space are very aggressive invaders that can take over entire plant communities. Priority is given to areas where infestations pose the worst threat to native plant communities and where they are bordering home lots. If you have questions about noxious weed management, herbicide application and the chemicals we use, or the management areas, please contact KCRMA Natural Resources Specialist Liam Cullinane at 720-599-3247, or at liamc@kcranch.org.

LookoutAlert, replacing CodeRED, will quickly notify people within a specific geographic area that may be affected by a large-scale disaster, evacuation or shelter-in-place orders, certain law enforcement activities such as searches for missing children or dangerous subjects, and other incidents that require immediate public awareness. Individuals who were signed up for CodeRED have been automatically enrolled into LookoutAlert. These residents do NOT need to sign up again but are encouraged to set up an account in the new platform to be able to choose what types of alerts they want to receive and to review and update their information when necessary. All landline residential and commercial phone numbers within the three jurisdictions have also automatically been enrolled into LookoutAlert.

Resident Lisa Downing Performs at DCPA for the Colorado Women’s Hall of Fame

International pianist, composer, arranger and longtime Ken-Caryl resident, Lisa Downing, was honored to perform at the Colorado Women’s Hall of Fame Induction Gala in March recognizing the accomplishments of 10 amazing Colorado women. The event was held at the Denver Center for the Performing Arts in the Seawell Ballroom.

The Colorado Women’s Hall of Fame (CWHF) mission is to inspire by celebrating and sharing the enduring contributions of Colorado’s distinctive women. To achieve this, CWHF educates the people of Colorado about the stories of the women who shaped our state and the nation’s history with courage, leadership, intelligence, compassion and creativity. Their talents, skills, struggles and contributions form a legacy that the CWHF is dedicated to protecting. The women inducted into the Hall of Fame come from diverse backgrounds such as: pioneers, politicians, educators, entrepreneurs, minority leaders, lawyers and more.

Lisa has composed much of the music that has been used in the Colorado Women’s Hall of Fame film series entitled “Great Colorado Women” and is currently airing its fifth season on Rocky Mountain PBS.

Lisa performed her original composition called “The Dragon Within” for this prestigious event, which also appears on her latest CD, “The Wisdom of My Shadow”.

“This piece is about the deeply feminine power that actually lives inside all of us, male and female,” Lisa says. “You never know how strong you really are, until being strong is your only choice — and then, you have to awaken the power of the dragon within.”

Lisa has completed four albums in her career so far. She performs solo concerts worldwide and is a Top 5 Billboard Artist. An award-winning solo piano recording artist, international performer, innovative music composer, three-time Emmy Award winner, seven-time Emmy Award nominee — Lisa is also a soul touching storyteller who is redefining the genre of solo piano.

All of Lisa’s recordings can be heard anywhere music is streamed including Spotify, iTunes, Pandora and Soundcloud. Her music can also be sampled and purchased at her website: www.LisaDowning.com.

Bradford K-8 Principal Gene Lewis Retires After 30 Years of Service

Following 30 years serving the children and families of Bradford K-8 located in the Ken-Caryl Valley, Principal Gene Lewis will be retiring at the conclusion of the 2022 school year.

Mr. Lewis grew up in neighboring Evergreen and attended Jefferson County Schools. He attended the University of Northern Colorado where he earned his bachelor's degree in Elementary Education. He went on to teach fifth and sixth grade for five years at Prospect Valley in Wheat Ridge. During this time period, he completed his master's degree in Curriculum and Instruction.

Mr. Lewis began his career at Bradford Elementary School as a fifth grade teacher, hired by the school's first principal, Dr. Harry Morgan, in 1991. From 1991- 1996, he taught fifth and sixth grade, and was instrumental in helping to open Bradford Intermediate School. He then completed his Type D Principal Certificate through the University of Phoenix. After two years as an Instructional Dean, he became the principal at Bradford Primary in the fall of 1998. Through a shared decision-making process, he was named principal of Bradford K-8 in 2018.

Mr. Lewis has dedicated three decades of service to the students at Bradford K-8 and their families. He has seen many changes over the years, including being at the forefront of the technology revolution that has forever changed education and how teachers and students engage with their students. He hopes that, moving forward in non-pandemic times, schools like Bradford K-8 can return to balanced learning, with less of a reliance on technology and more with personal interactions.

Mr. Lewis has been a beloved figure within the community and respected by his students, colleagues, peers and parents. His presence at Bradford-K8 will surely be missed. The Ken-Caryl community thanks Mr. Lewis for his many years of dedication, commitment and service to his staff, his students and their families. We wish Mr. Lewis all the best during his retirement!

Guild Awards Local High School Artist

At the 2022 Jeffco Schools Foundation High School Art Exhibition held at the Arvada Center, the Ken-Caryl Art Guild recognized Talia Brown from Dakota Ridge High School for the mixed media work, "Scarred Beauty". Talia's art teacher is Micah Snyder.

The exhibition was in the Arvada Center's Main Gallery and was on display until May 8. The awards ceremony was Monday, April 25 at 7 p.m. at the Arvada Center Main Stage.

For an incredible 51 years, the Jeffco Schools Foundation art exhibition has encouraged and supported tomorrow's artists from the Jefferson County school district, many of whom go on to thrive as professional artists or become teachers themselves.

Each spring, the Ken-Caryl Art Guild supports tomorrow's artists from Jefferson County Public Schools with the annual award. This year, the exhibition featured more than 400 works from 23 different high schools.

Congratulations, Talia Brown!

Troop 686 Celebrates New Eagle Scout

The Raptor Education Foundation attended a celebration in honor of Eagle Scout Connor Hettinger. The presenter, Anne Price, showed a female bald eagle who had been stolen from its nest and was abandoned a few months later. They attempted several times to rehabilitate her and release her into the wild, but she lacked the hunting skills to feed herself properly.

The scouts of Troop 686 frequently donate their time to support the Ken-Caryl community through trash clean-ups, supporting the Leave No Trace methodology for camping and hiking, and through their individual Eagle projects that are organized, implemented and led by one single scout with the purpose of bettering the community.

If your son or daughter is interested in joining Troop 686, please contact Marisa Famariss at famariss4@gmail.com. The Troop meets every Wednesday at 7 p.m. Additional information can be found at bsatroop686.org.

Fire Safety Living Next to Open Space

By Sean Warren, Open Space Manager

The most effective way to reduce wildfire risks at your property is to limit the amount of flammable vegetation around your home, choose ignition resistant building materials and construction techniques, and conduct regular exterior maintenance in the home ignition zones.

For residents living adjacent to open space, you are allowed to maintain a 10' wide buffer zone in open space to reinforce defensible space treatments on your property.

Do:

- Mow grasses to height of no less than 4".
- Remove woody vegetation 4" in diameter or less (measured at the base of the tree or shrub).
- Remove dead branches or logs that are lying on the ground.

Don't:

- Do not mow or remove any vegetation beyond the 10' buffer zone
- Do not remove or prune branches from trees larger than 4" in diameter at the base (if there is a concern about woody vegetation larger than 4" in diameter at the base, contact the Open Space Department Staff and they will evaluate the concern and determine if additional removal/pruning is necessary).
- Do not dump or store anything including slash, grass clippings, dirt, other landscaping debris.
- Do not alter, build, or install anything including landscaping, play equipment, decks, walls, fences, buried invisible pet fences or bird feeders/houses.

*Note: Failure to follow any of the above rules could lead to a violation notice including possible fines and loss of association privileges.

Be aware that by maintaining the 10' buffer zone in open space and choosing not to address fire hazards on your own property will do very little if nothing to protect your home. The most effective way to protect your property from fire is to implement defensible space recommendations starting at the house and moving out from there.

Fairy Tale Ending

Helping our furry friends find homes.

Every adorable, adoptable resident of Foothills Animal Shelter lacks only one thing: a happy home. Please consider adopting one of this week's featured pets:

Adriana (#246649):

Adriana is a 5-year-old, female Labrador Retriever mix. This sweet girl (boasting an impressive ebony coat) came to the shelter from Houston, TX, as part of the Rescued Pet Movement, and while she's a bit reluctant and sensitive when faced with the unfamiliar, she easily and quickly warms up with soft voices and yummy snacks. Adriana is easily leashed for walking, especially when approached with tender encouragement. While she is understandably stressed from her relocation, we're confident she will become a remarkably loving and loyal companion for some special someone if given the time to adjust to new surroundings.

Luna (#244700): Luna is an 8-year-old, female cat. This calico cutie (with blue-cream highlights) is a sweet, outgoing girl ready to make your acquaintance if you love to play, explore and cuddle. As a classic "sidekick", Luna is just plain good company who likes lots of attention as she helps you navigate through your day, but also appreciates her solitude when she can relax and recharge her batteries for her next round of endearing interaction – an overall wonderful purr-sona that would make her a cherished addition to any family.

Trail Club “Paves” the Way with Emergency Access Road Fire Mitigation Efforts

In early April, the Ken-Caryl Trail Club donated their time to remove shrubs, small trees and debris along the emergency access road located in the Ken-Caryl Valley that connects North Ranch Road and Willow Springs. Ken-Caryl’s Firewise Committee, in partnership with the Ken-Caryl Ranch Rangers, felt these fire mitigation clean-up efforts were necessary, noting the dangerous conditions that existed along the route.

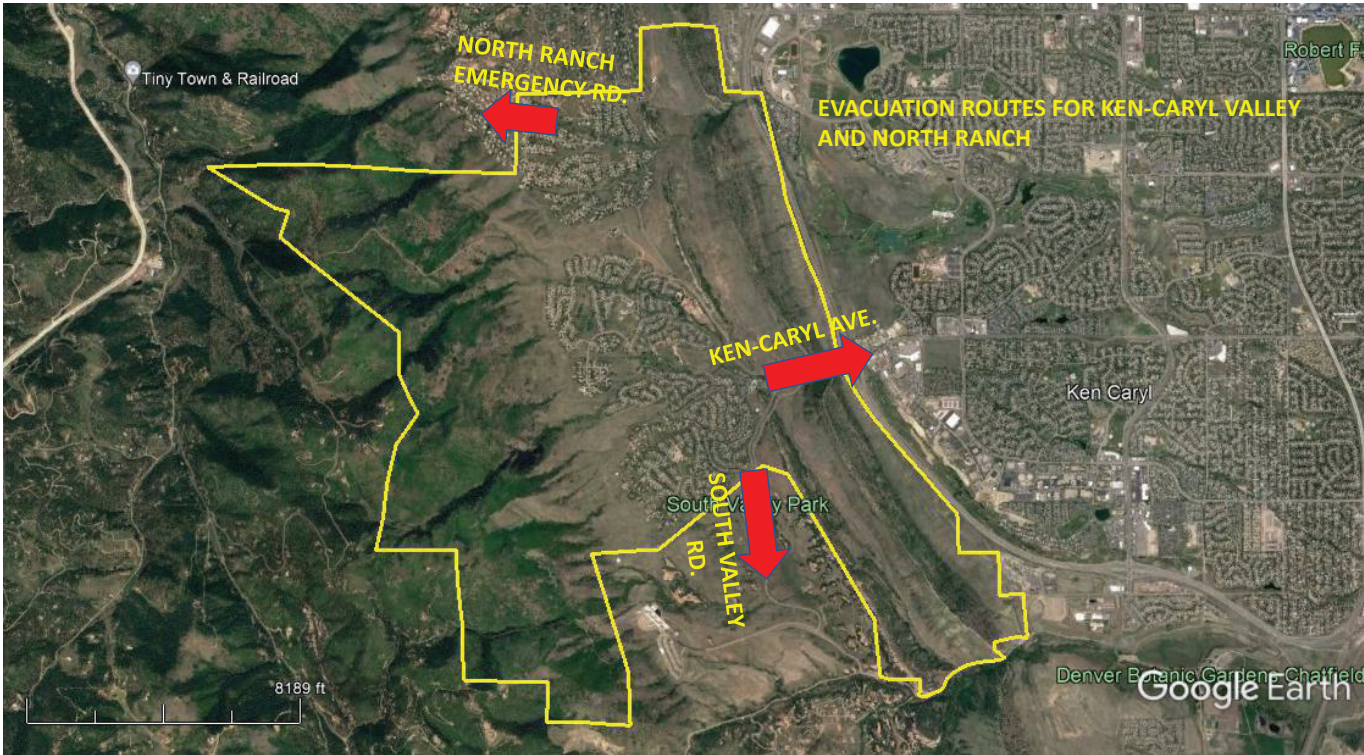

The Ken-Caryl Trail Club then stepped up to the plate, agreeing to donate hours of service to clearing the area along the service road of combustible materials in the hopes of keeping the road accessible for possible area evacuations, which also provided cost-savings to the community for the needed labor. Trail Club members involved in this effort included residents JJ Hamilton, Jonah Hamilton, Jeff Lyslo, Mark Celusniak, Gary Grieshaber and Carl Brackpool. MA Board Director Gerry Bauer also volunteered.

According to Open Space Manager Sean Warren, Dan Hatlestad, Chair of the Ken-Caryl Ranch Firewise Committee, first brought to staff’s attention dangerous conditions along the emergency access road connecting North Ranch and Willow Springs.

“Dan felt the area was pretty overgrown and if the woody vegetation did ignite, the amount of smoke and fire would essentially shut down the road as an evacuation route,” remarked Sean. He also noted that work along the route will continue, with the help of a contractor to remove larger limbs and prune taller trees.

Ken-Caryl Trail Club members work to clear the emergency access road that connects North Ranch Road to Willow Springs as a part of fire mitigation efforts.

Members of the Trail Club worked to remove shrubs, small trees and other debris as a part of fire mitigation efforts along the North Ranch emergency road.

Due to strong community interest expressed through the 2021 resident survey, the Master Association and Metropolitan District Boards have created a Dog Park Task Force to develop a feasibility report for a dog park in Ken-Caryl Ranch. The desire is for the report to include analysis of multiple locations for a dog park. A Neighborhood at Its Finest

Neighbors Helping Neighbors Get Wise About Reducing Fire Risk

By Carol Grape and Diane Sanelli, Residents

On April 23, 20 eager and enthusiastic homeowners in the Stratford Farms and Shaffer Hill neighborhoods gathered to work on fire mitigation efforts. They were participating in this year's Annual Project Day, an event the neighbors have participated in for many years to honor Earth Day.

The Marshall Fire shocked all of us and raised awareness about being firewise and about implementing fire mitigation measures to reduce fire risk. Prior to the Project Day, we invited Keith McMillan, KCR Firewise committee member and fire fighter, to a community meeting on April 2, to learn more about ways to mitigate fire risk.

So, practicing what we learned, our fire mitigation activities included tackling individual yard waste and trimming up trees and getting rid of other combustibles close to our homes. But the big project was tackling the two orphan lots on Blue Sage, which have a great deal of dead flammable material sitting under trees and laying among tall dead grasses.

After several hours of effort, we filled up an entire roll off that was provided by the KCR Master Association. We would like to thank the MA for supplying the roll off that allowed us to dispose of a great deal of material. We made a good dent but there is still a long way to go. We would also like to thank John Hamilton with the KC Trail Club who provided some heavy duty weed whackers and other equipment.

Many thanks to Tim Redmond and Carol Grape for organizing the homeowners and getting the word out to our neighbors. A BIG thank you to all who cleaned up their yards and particularly to the 20 neighbors who willingly helped on the orphan lots. We look forward to working with the MA, MD, and other homeowners in reducing fire risk in the Ken-Caryl Ranch community.

Dear Editor:

Our trails are a unique asset to our community and a key factor why many of us moved here. This trail system is not a State Park, a National Park, nor is it a wildlife refuge. Therefore, it does not need to be governed in the same way. State and National parks have the public at large to deal with, significant liabilities to match with staffing, and a labyrinth of government rules to follow. We enjoy self-rule over our little slice of heaven.

The best use for the trail system is to use it. What about responsible use and conservation? Of course. We have established use rules, we close trails when necessary, and our Trail Club maintains them with sweat and toil as required, saving the community over $50K annually in expenses. Most of the land outside your window is far from any trail, leaving great habitat for our other neighbors.

Past letters to the editor warn about events I checked into and found lacking in clarity. One is mountain bike racing. The last “race” was part of a neighborhood-wide celebration some 10 years ago. It sounded like fun, with lots to do for the kids. Another is mountain bike race training. This is a youth group run by a Ken-Caryl resident granted a permit from the MA Board. A separate youth group lost access because of inappropriate behavior. Then there are the eagles that trail users are allegedly endangering. In one nest, fledglings didn’t survive last year. Predators were determined as the cause, not human activity.

I’ll be on the trails often this summer and hope to see you out there. By the way, please consider attending a MA Board meeting and let them know how much you appreciate using the trails.

Sincerely,
Nick Hereford, Resident

Dear Editor:

Several recent letters have argued for a ban on trail use at night. Since I both enjoy this and lack the leisure to hike exclusively during the day, I object. Hiking, biking, and other simple enjoyments of our KC open space sustain health and well-being of many many KC residents. No wonder 97% of KC survey respondents indicated they are satisfied with life in KC. “Ban it” advocates discount KC community well-being. They fixate on a fantasy of animal fragility and hope you will too.

The “ban it” position rests on two fallacies: that simple creatures “stress” and need to “de-stress” like humans; and that human animals necessarily stress neighboring wildlife. Animal and human brains are different. The bulging cerebral cortices of humans generate imagination and worry. We humans need and benefit from some de-stressing—e.g. hiking or riding in nature. Our simple-brained furry and feathered friends do not. Evolution has blessed them with basic stimulus-response behaviors and learning. When they sense unfamiliar stimuli, night or day, they experience momentary arousal, assess a possible threat, and flee or hide if necessary. Within seconds the “danger” passes and they return to their daily survival rituals, unharmed, and certainly not distressed. In employing adaptive instincts to respond to momentary uncertainty, local critters escape the prolonged worry and distress of humans.

The human animal is not especially threatening or stress-inducing to our local creatures. Consider your immediate neighborhood. Deer, birds, squirrels, rabbits, and more thrive and multiply. People, dogs, loud cars, bright lights at night, and music have no significant impact on them. They quickly adapt to us, our footsteps, our cars and lawn mowers. So we coexist with ease. If critters can survive and thrive in populated, noisy neighborhoods, they survive and thrive in the open space near our trails. They need no additional protection.

“Ban-it” advocates need you to swallow the fantasy that animals and human animals do not coexist harmoniously in KC. Decades of resident experience suggest otherwise. The liberty of all residents to enjoy their trails, day or night, should be respected.
